LEST

Would not ask of life perpetual noon ad miss the day's glad birth and solemn close;
dare not seek a path all flower-bestrewn
lest I grow careless of a wayside rose.

cannot pray those woes dispersed
be,
that as white clouds intensify the
blue,
or will I crave all hearts beat kind
to me
lest I forget, dear love, my need of you.

—D. A. R., in London Chronicle.

Morning Party.

As a pretty compliment to Mrs. W. I. Wymond of Louisville, Miss Antoinette Cobb gave a delightful morning party from 10 to 12. The home was unusually attractive with cut flowers and ferns. A two-course luncheon was served. Misses Ethelyn and Mary of Muskogee, Beatrice of Kellor, Jennie B. Dyer of Oklahoma City, Eugenia Niveche, Rachel Campbell, Pauline Gladney of Chicago; Hallette Fraley, Marguerite Noble, Melames Wymond, Ray Poland, Walter Thompson, and Marie Bogie of Oklahoma City.

Dinner Party.

Mrs. Ray Wells will entertain with a dinner party honoring Miss Katie Johnson.

East Ardmore Presbyterian Aid. The East Ardmore Presbyterian Aid society will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. T. Salisbury on G street, northeast.

Cake-Walk.

Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. W. Randol, Mesdames, Bass, Thompson, Poland and Randol of Circle Four of the Methodist church, gave an afternoon at home to all their friends and friends of the church.

The ladies, Methodists, realized the ever-advancing craze for the new dances, determined to be modern and give a "cake-walk." For a number of days the guests seriously pondered the propriety of a Methodist cake-walk and arrived promptly at three o'clock to witness the new revised ragtime.

The grand march of cakes was led by Mrs. Louis Boyd, the bride's cake, followed by the fruit cake, Mrs. Wallace; Johnnie cake, Miss Mary Hoard; Angel food, Miss Florence Hoard; butter cake, Mrs. Morris; lemon jelly cake, Mrs. Jim Stinson; ribbon cake, Miss Ethelyn Hill; chocolate cake Mrs. Tom Frame; marble cake, Mrs. P. Kearney; spice cake, Mrs. Forward; George Washington cake, Mrs. Lykins; Puritan cake, Mrs. P. C. Dings; Lady Baltimore cake, Mrs. Ray Poland; cookie, Mrs. Lucien Hoard; plain cake, Mrs. W. B. Frame; one-two-three-four, Mrs. Graham.

The guests were given pencils and talloys and guessed the cakes represented. Mrs. Rosa Bell was given an angel food for the most correct interesting: The Revelation of the True Guide, Book Eleven, and the Purpose of Book Twelve.

Mrs. J. A. Bivens led the parliamentary drill. Miss Effie Lane was critic.

District School.

The regular examination was held by the teacher of the "district school" Friday evening at the home of Mrs. R. W. Randol. Despite the inclemency of the weather, pupils, trustees, and patrons were all there. Mrs. Carrie Maxwell was teacher and there was no question but that the position should belong to her as long as she wished.

Her pupils were so well disciplined and so well trained, that it would have been hard to have found another to take her place.

The Randol home was turned into a country school room, with its desks and benches, cedar bucket and gourd dipper, dunce cap and fool's chair. The pupils were unusually apt and read, sang and spelled like graduates of Oklahoma's best normal schools. The school included all grades from the kindergarten through the grammar and High school branches. The teacher demonstrated all the principles of the "Montessori Method," delightfully, the stammering, stuttering child under this training, is as independent as the most brilliant. No branch of the teacher's art had been neglected, singing had reached a wonderful degree of perfection in this district, and the orations and compositions showed the talent that no doubt in a few years will win fame abroad. The debaters were unable to attend school. One learned the trustees were coming, and he played truant. The other had the measles.

After the school work was over the hostesses served a salad course. The entertainment was a success socially and financially and the ladies wish to thank all who so kindly assisted them in the afternoon and evening entertainment.

Philharmonic Club.

The Philharmonic club meets Wednesday afternoon at the High school auditorium, with Miss Lillian McNeese, directress.

Tea.

Mrs. Ed Allen will entertain all her friends and the friends of the Christian church next Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5, with a tea. A musical program will be given and a bargain sale.

Mrs. Allen and the ladies of the society want everybody to come and enjoy an informal afternoon with them. The Aid society is placing the seats in the church and will appreciate so much the friends coming to the bargain sale and tea.

Mrs. Sandlin Entertains.

Invitations will be issued early this week for a five hundred party, given by Mrs. Ed Sandlin Saturday afternoon, March 14th complimentary to her niece, Miss Durie.

The Guild.

A special meeting of the Guild of St. Philip's Episcopal church will be held with Mrs. Sayre Tuesday afternoon. All members are urged to be present, as some very important business is to be discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Sayre will entertain Bishop Brooks during his visit in Ardmore.

Second Ward Mothers' Club.

The Second Ward Mothers' club meets next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. An interesting program has been prepared and all friends and patrons of the school are invited.

Birthday Party.

Levittan Bruce entertained about thirty-five of his little friends and mates yesterday afternoon from 3 to 6. The occasion was his eighth birthday anniversary and it will long be remembered as a happy, jolly time, by all his friends. After many contests, and all kinds of games that delight children, the merry guests were served with a dainty repast.

Carter Avenue Missionary.

The Carter Avenue Missionary society will meet Tuesday afternoon at the church at 3 o'clock. A full attendance is urged.

Miss Annie Anderson is spending the weekend in Madill with friends. Miss Essie Winston of MacMillan has returned to her home after spending a few days the guest of Miss Annie Anderson.

Dr. Winston of MacMillan spent the past week in Ardmore with his family.

Marshmallow Toast.

Iona Bell Lynn entertained a few little friends at her home on F street, southwest, Saturday afternoon

Philathea-Baracas

At 8 o'clock on Friday evening the Philathea and Baracas of the South Ardmore Baptist church met in the rooms of Mrs. T. W. Fowler on Carter street, where the time was spent in convivial glee, feast of song and merriment galore. The welcome rang in youthful love, dispersed with wisdom well seasoned by grace, dispensed at the hands of Hon. Kelly Brown, teacher of the Baraca class of the First Christian church, who dwelt with much force upon the correlated work and bonded relation of the Baraca Philathea movement, while Mrs. R. F. Armstrong of Texas in loving grace lifted the audience to the heavens on the infinite wings of outstretched beauty, tinted in the tender glow of Infinite Love, and brought them to see God as he is.

The committees in charge in the general outline, saw to the happiness of those in attendance as they approached the front, not a discordant note sounded from the time the guests assembled, until the last "good night" sounded the knell of an occasion that goes down into history as

The times when we meet to love,
The times when we meet to know
A time when God smiles from above,
And each one is reluctant to go.

Mr. Fowler is a host unexcelled. He has entertained eminent personages, among whom have been governors, presidents, senators and artists, but not with more pleasure than his guests for the evening. The Philathea class of the South Ardmore church is unusually fortunate in having a man of Mr. Fowler's intellect as teacher.

His Dogs Explained

A German cobbler and his wife had two dogs, a St. Bernard 6 months old and a fox terrier, 3 years old. A friend calling one day, said to the cobbler: "Those are two fine dogs you have." "Yes," replied the cobbler, "and do funny part of it is that the biggest dog is a little one." His wife then spoke up and explained: "You must mine husband excuse; he speaks not very good English. He means the oldest dog is the youngest one."—Acheson Globe.
